Personal Statement

My name is Britney Fulp and my work as a therapist is inherent to my belief that people want to love and be loved. We strive to feel a sense of deep connection and acceptance to fulfill a higher purpose in life. Appreciating the courage, work, time and complete commitment it requires to change, I work to walk side by side with my clients through their personal journey to identify, focus and work to achieve what's important to them. In the process, I hope they find a more fulfilling life. Beginning the transformative process of therapy can be daunting, so I will meet you where you stand and help you find the strengths you have.

As everyone has walked different paths in life, the process in therapy should be just as unique. I have experience using several therapeutic modalities including CBT, DBT, solution focused therapy as well as play therapy. I am constantly researching and participating in continuing education to learn more techniques to help people who want to work with me. I also have the flexibility to adjust to the ever-changing needs of my client's lives as we make progress. I look forward to partnering with you to create personalized goals and work towards them in your commitment to improve your life.
